ROMULUS — A new Zoning Ordinance for the city of Romulus was rejected by the voters in a special Referendum Election held Aug. 4.

Voting on the Referendum Proposition asked the city's electorate to decide "Shall Zoning Ordinance No. 70-81 as enacted by the Township Board on March 2, 1970 be approved by the City of Romulus."

The official vote returns, as certified by the Board of Canvassers, showed that 1,254 voted against the ordinance to 633 voting approval, or a total of 1,887.

Of the city's vote registration of 8,390, only 2,622 persons went to the polls to vote on the Referendum question and nominate candidates for state and county federal offices.

The new zoning ordinance, subject of much discussion since its initial adoption by the Romulus Township Board and subsequent approval by City Council, was the basis of the city's master plan.

Referendum petitions were started by a citizens group that voiced strong objections to multiple zoning classification for a land site at Middlebelt and Van Born Rds., an area near their homes.

The referendum campaign brought other objections from other areas in the city, both from residents and officials, including a member of City Council, James C. Stewart.

Following the defeat of the Zoning Ordinance, members of City Council immediately called a public hearing.

The hearing was held on Aug. 6.

More than 30 area residents, plus businessmen and government officials were in attendance.

Prior to the public hearing, the council, in an emergency session held Aug. 5, approved an Emergency Resolution with immediate effect that the city used the old Township Zoning Ordinance which is based on the old Township Planning Act.

The resolution authorized the use of the old zoning provisions for a period of 30, or until a new Zoning Ordinance is approved.

At the public hearing, council members heard the various views, objections and suggestions. These will be referred to the Planning Commission for study.

Some of the objections involved charges of "too many gas stations multiple units, trailer parks, etc.

A citizens committee is to be formed. Members of this committee, it was stated, will be representatives from the 11 voting precincts in the city.

They will meet with the City Planning Commission for review and preparation of a new Zoning Ordinance to be presented to City Council for further final approval.

An organizational meeting of the committee was scheduled Tuesday night at the Romulus Junior High School. They are to select a spokesman to represent them in future discussions with city and planners.

Primary Voter Turnout Registers Less Than 1/3

ROMULUS — Less than one third of the registered and eligible voters in Romulus took to the polls to cast ballots for candidates seeking nomination for state, county and state offices.

In addition to voting for these offices, Romulus' electorate voted on a Referendum Proposition involving Romulus' new Zoning Ordinance on which results are listed elsewhere in this issue.

William Faust, incumbent senator for the 13th Senatorial District, won renomination over his opponent State Representative Vincent J. Petitpre of the 37th legislative district by almost two to one vote. Faust received 1,175, Petitpre got 739 votes.

A total of 2,622 persons voted out of the city's total registrations of 8,390.

In the race for the 38th Legislative District now held by Representative Edward E. Mahalak, the vote totals showed that Mahalak beat his opponent Carl W. Morris by 1,128 for Mahalak to 811 for Morris.

Both candidates are from Romulus. Republican Dale C. Wagenknecht, who ran unopposed received 240 votes.

Congressman William D. Ford, 15th Congressional District, incumbent, beat his Republican opponent Ernest C. Fackler, 1,330 to 156. Charles Kline D-Romulus received two write-in votes.

In the governor's race, Sander Levin, got 959 votes. He bested his Democratic opponents.

The results showed Levin, 959 votes; Zolton Ferency, 474 votes; George N. Farris, 149 votes and George F. Montgomery, 148 votes.

Seek Opinion On Clerk Merger

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners is seeking a State Attorney General's opinion on whether it can merge the offices of County Clerk and Register of Deeds during their present terms of office.

The Commissioners, meanwhile, have asked Circuit Court not to appoint anyone to the vacancy created by the recent death of County Clerk Edgar M. Branigin pending issuance of the Attorney General's ruling.

The County Board acted at its Aug. 6 meeting.

The Board of Commissioners earlier declared its intention to merge the two offices when the present terms expire at the end of 1972.

In a 1933 case, the Michigan Supreme Court held that the two offices could not be merged during their terms.

However, the Board of Commissioners decided to seek a new ruling because the new State Constitution has been adopted since then.

Merger of the two offices is contemplated as a step toward streamlining the County structure and promoting efficiency.

College To Continue Despite Millage Defeat

The defeat of the proposed millage for Wayne County Community College brought the following statement from Murray Jackson, president of the college:

"Wayne County Community College has lost in its latest attempt to secure an independent financial base of operation. We will continue, therefore, as the only county in the state that does not provide home finances for its community college."

"We are still determined however to bring a new, creative and vital force to the people of this county. Last September, without the millage money, we opened our doors and let the people of the county vote 'yes' or 'no' for community education."

"Almost ten thousand people responded by taking classes in the first year. This coming year we expect fourteen thousand or more to register, and within the decade we anticipate a yearly enrollment of some fifty thousand people. That is need; that is a 'yes' for community education; and we are not going to turn our backs on it."

"I would be less than honest if I did not express my deep disappointment over the refusal of the voters to pass our request for millage funds. In our minds we have demonstrated over the past year the real need for community education for Wayne County."

"Furthermore we have demonstrated, under trying financial conditions, that Wayne County Community College has the ability to meet that need with quality education. I honestly thought that, given those two pieces of evidence, the voters of the county would vote yes for millage. But they didn't."

"Taxes are high and people don't want to pay any more. I can understand that as I'm a taxpayer too. But we have a job to do. We are committed to total quality education for the people of our county and, millage or not, that is what we are going to do."

"I call on all the citizens of the county, on all our friends in education, in the unions, in business, in government, in private life to step forward and give of themselves by helping us to continue and expand our educational opportunities for the people of this county. Wayne County Community College is here to stay. We are going to give to those who want it education, vocational-technical training and community service."

Registration for Fall classes will begin on Sept. 8. Classes in the forty-five learning centers of Wayne County Community College will begin on Sept. 14.

Donald M. D. Thurber, chairman of the Board of Trustees added,

"With the defeat of millage the people of Wayne County have taken a decided step backwards. The Community College will go on, of course, in a modest way, but the full potential for service to the people will not be realized. This area cannot afford too many more lost opportunities to solve its problems and to move forward."

Meeting To Consider Democratic Merger

ROMULUS — The Romulus Democratic Club will hold a membership meeting tomorrow at the L & L Hall, located at 11114 Sterling St., Club President Jack H. Trumbull, announced.

He extended a welcome to all who would like to become members. He said, "We have some ideas for a good club."

All we need is the interest and other ideas to make the Democratic club work as it should."

Sabo Wins Nomination For Commissioner

An Executive Board session will be held at 7 p.m., an hour before the membership meeting.

The top issue on the agenda will be the merger of the two Democratic clubs in Romulus — the chartered Romulus Democratic Club, and the newly organized Romulus City Democratic Club.

"It is important that members in good standing be at the meeting to discuss and use their right to vote on this merger," Trumbull said.

"We have so many good people in Romulus who are concerned about the issues facing us each day. Let's put our heads together and see what possible solutions we can come up with."

"We all must feel frustrated at times when we see and hear of injustices going on around us. Maybe through an united Democratic club we can alleviate some of these problems. But we won't know if we don't try," Trumbull added.

BELLEVILLE — A Taylor, Mich. barber, John N. Sabo Jr., won the Aug. 4 Democratic primary election for Wayne County Commissioner for the 24th District.

Two years ago, Sabo was defeated in his first election bid for the post by a narrow margin of 48 votes against Edmund Bizek.

He will now face Roger Groth, Republican, in the November General Election.

Unofficial returns on the Aug. 4 vote gave Sabo the election over incumbent Edmund Bizek of Romulus. He also defeated Royce C. Smith, mayor of Belleville.

A 25-year-old man who never smoked regularly can expect to live 4.6 years longer than the man who smokes 1 to 9 cigarettes a day. He will live 8.3 years longer than the heavy smoker.

who won the endorsement of several groups and news media.

In Belleville, Sabo received 20; Smith, 109; Mrs. Washburn, 17; Bizek, 37.

Roger Groth, Republican, unopposed, received 92.

In Romulus, Bizek got 889; Sabo, 522; Mrs. Washburn, 235; and Smith, 308. Groth received 263.

The 24th District embraces the townships of Sumpter, Van Buren and the cities of Belleville, Romulus, Wayne and parts of Taylor, Westland and Dearborn Heights.

Van Buren Board Approves Contract

BELLEVILLE — Van Buren Public School District's millage assessment will remain the same for the 1970-71 school year, Dale E. Kaulitz, school superintendent, announced.

The formal setting of school millage for the coming school year operation was discussed and approved at the school board hearing Monday.

The millage levy will be 27.75 mills per $1,000 of assessed property valuation, state equalized. The mill levy consists of 23.9 mills for school operations and 3.85 mills for debt retirement.

Voters in a special school election held March 25 approved a six mill renewal proposition which is included in the total assessment for the 1970-71 tax assessment.

The school board acted in order to notify clerks of the city and township the amount to collect in school taxes. And in accordance with state regulations, the millage must be certified before Sept. 1.

Kaulitz pointed out that the school board in setting the mill levy has kept its word on keeping the millage at current levels as stated during the March election campaign.

The total budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 is $6,373,650 for school operations.

At the time of the election, the school board reported that if the voters had not approved the six mills renewal for operations it would have had to reduce budget requests by $900,000 thus affecting educational programs and services of the school system.

Eric is currently hiking down the western coast of the United States. The hike this year consists mostly of uncharted areas from Washington to Mexico. He expects to be back around Oct. 22.

He has covered 900 miles of his present hike and is now in California.

Mrs. Ryback reports that her son is in good health and excellent spirits.

Navy Cites Piper

Compulsory Arbitration Act Is Cited By Kelley

Employees in public police and fire departments are prohibited from striking by law. Because of this fact, the legislature enacted Public Act 312 in 1969, effective Oct. 1, 1969, and expiring June 30, 1972.

The enactment of this bill was in recognition of the fact that it is a requisite to the high morale of such employees and the efficient operation of such departments that they be afforded an alternate, effective, and binding procedure for the resolution of disputes, Attorney General Frank J. Kelley reported.

This act, he stated, provides for compulsory arbitration of labor disputes in municipal police and fire departments when an employee's dispute has not been resolved to the satisfaction of both parties within a specified time. In such case, either party may initiate binding arbitration proceedings by a prompt request therefor in writing to the other party with a copy to the labor mediation board.

Within ten days thereafter the employer must choose a delegate and the employees' exclusive bargaining representative, or if none, the designated representative in the prior mediation must choose a delegate. Each must notify the other and the mediation board of their selections.

Thereafter these delegates choose an impartial third person to act as an arbitrator and the chairman of the panel. If they cannot agree on a third person, either may ask the chairman of the state labor mediation board to appoint one, which he must do within seven days.

The chairman calls a hearing to begin within 15 days and gives the parties notice of the time and place. Any person, labor organization or governmental unit having a substantial interest may be granted leave, upon good cause shown, to intervene.

The proceedings are informal and technical rules of evidence do not apply. The costs are shared equally by the parties and the state. The delegates, if public officers or employees, continue on their payrolls at their usual pay.

The panel may administer oaths, subpoena witnesses and require the production of books and papers. Written findings of facts and a written opinion and order are due within 30 days, unless the time is extended by consent of the parties.

Homeowners' Slate Sweeps To Victory

SUMPTER — The slate backed by the Sumpter Homeowners Association swept to victory in last Tuesday's Township election in the Democratic primary.

In the majority of races, nomination in the Democratic primary is tantamount to election, as there are no Republicans on the ballot, except in the trustee race.

Slate-backed candidate Clarence Hoffman defeated present Deputy Clerk Pauline Quinley in the race for nomination for Clerk by a 540 to 374 tally. Trailing them was Sarah Golden with 69.

They were followed by Ace Glover with 388, Clinton Brown with 369 and Henry Galloway with 296. There were no Republicans running for constable.

The Sumpter Township voters followed the county-wide trend, and defeated the community college proposal 298 against and 150 for.

George Montgomery 51 votes, and George Parris 82 votes.

Persons with normal hearing ability can gain an insight into the silent world of hard of hearing by watching a favorite television program with the sound turned too low to hear, according to the Belleville teresting for a short while, it soon becomes irritating and even terrifying for most people as they discover they are cut off from communication.

Hayride Ends 6-Week Recreation Program

NEW BOSTON — The Social Service Club of Huron High School sponsored a six-week summer recreation program for boys and girls from kindergarten through sixth grade. This program was held on Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to noon at the High School.

More than twelve high school students were involved in planning and participating in the activities. Mike Dalton took charge of the active games like kickball, basketball, volleyball, badminton and relay races, with the help of Linda LeValley, Carolyn Lee, Val Dockter, Boonie Wood and Diana Petri.

Gayle Dilks taught several girls beginning knitting skills, and Debbie Wauer showed the children how to write on wood circles with a magnifying glass to make attractive pendants.

Jackie McBain, Kathy Holland, and Joan Otter helped with the arts and crafts projects such as felt bookmarkers, yarn pictures, plastic piggy banks, milk carton bird feeders, soap sachets, and flowers and mobiles of liquid plastic and wire.

An unusual activity was an exhibition of dog-training methods by Nancy Tillotson and Kathy Tankley. These girls showed the group basic commands a dog should know and what to do if a dog is hurt.

Several children practiced muzzling a dog and putting a splint on its injured leg. Two children brought their dogs and practiced the training methods.

The equipment for the sports activities was furnished by the high school. The equipment for the craft projects was furnished by the club from the money which club members worked to raise during the school year, from their own homes, and from a generous donation from the Rotary Club of New Boston.

Mrs. Glenice Bosman also donated supplies to the recreation program.

The following parents of club members also contributed their time to provide adult supervision, along with Jean Carlberg, club sponsor; Mrs. McBain, Mrs. Wauer, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Holland Mrs. Dalton, and Mrs. Tillotson.

More than 30 children from all three elementary schools participated in the program, and there was room for more children. The final activities included a hayride and picnic in the park.

This is the first summer project for the club which was formed early last fall by Nancy Tillotson, president, for the purpose of rendering service in areas where it was badly needed.

During the past year, members went once a month to a women's ward at Ypsilanti State Hospital and organized recreational activities with the patients. The club also visited the children's section of Pontiac State Hospital and is very interested in working with children next year.

Honeymoon In East Follows Flint Wedding

The marriage of Jeanne Ellen Robinson and Jerry Wayne Fant was solemnized in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Flint, by the Rev. Michael Shulenberg Saturday evening, August 1.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. T. Eugene Robinson of 810 Hubbard Avenue, Flint, and Mr. and Mrs. Troy W. Fant of 13150 Edgedale Drive, Belleville.

For her wedding day, the bride selected a gown of silk organza over white linen with Alencon lace distinguishing the Victorian mode gown. The little fitted bodice was designed with a high neckline and billowing sleeves with deep lace cuffs. Back interest was created with the use of a detachable chapel train frosted with lace appliques.

Her cathedral-length illusion veil was caught to a crescent headpiece of lillies of the valley and tiny green leaves.

Completing her bridal finery was a basket of orchid and white carnations, blue corn flowers, stephanotis, and tendrils of ivy.

Laurie Haynes of Ann Arbor was maid of honor. Others in the bridal coterie were Susan Fant, sister of the bridegroom; Cindy Vanden Bosch of Spring Lake; and Susan Zielke of Detroit. The bride's cousin, Laurie Ann Smith, traveled from Euclid, Ohio to serve as junior bridesmaid.

Identically attired, the quintet appeared in orchid jersey knit shirts and Victorian-style linen blouses accented with lace. They wore matching orchid bows in their hair and carried flower baskets similar to that of the bride.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Alan Fant. Others on the esquire side were Thomas Mc Cartney of Ypsilanti; Richard Kaminskis of Belleville; and junior groomsmen, Charles W. Immler, Jr. of Euclid, Ohio, cousin of the bride.

Acting as ushers were Joseph Gregoria of Wyandotte and Ronald Witthoff of Plymouth.

At the wedding reception which followed at the Davison Country Club, Davison, Michigan, some 275 guests were received by Mrs. Robinson in a yellow silk frock embellished with topaz crystal beading. For her son's wedding, Mrs. Fant donned an aqua chiffon silk pleated ensemble with pearl accents. Both mothers were presented with orchid corsages.

THE NEW Mrs. Fant graduated from Southwestern High School in 1966 and is a senior at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo. Her husband, a 1966 graduate of Belleville High School, received his bachelor's degree in business administration from W.M.U. where he affiliated with Delta Upsilon Fraternity. He is currently working as a sectional sales representative for Proctor and Gamble Company.

Following a honeymoon trip to several Eastern vacation spas including Virginia Beach and Atlantic City, the newlyweds will reside in the Ann Arbor Manor Townhouses, Ypsilanti.

The rehearsal dinner, Friday before the wedding, was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at Cromer's Restaurant in Flint with 25 guests attending.

Shower's A Surprise

THE SHOWER planned for Cathie (Prais) Cameron was tagged 'surprise' by hostess Sandy Brown who welcomed 23 guests to her home on Elwell Road recently.

Focal point for the proceedings was a unique bulletin board holding a branch of driftwood, placed to resemble a tree, with little diapered babies and storks suspended from the branches. The shower decor was centered on a Teddy bear theme which was carried out in the table arrangements.

A variety of games resulted in awards for the honoree, Kathleen Miller, Dawn Bruder, Gloria Gardner, and Jo Babik with Gerry Liedel copping the house prize. Another award is being held for the guest who comes closest to predicting the birthday of the expected heir.

A buffet lunch was served with a cleverly-decorated cake, made by Shirley Straub, for dessert. The group from E. Detroit, Ypsilanti, Dearborn, Romulus and Belleville then had the pleasure of seeing the baby's gifts unwrapped.

Cradle Theme

A STORK SHOWER honoring Mrs. James (Shirley) Hudge was held last Thursday at the home of her sister-in-law, Grace Hudge of Sumpter Road, with Janice Ross of Garden City as co-hostess for the surprise party.

Low bowls of colorful snapdragons and asters centered the tables as guests competed in several baby-theme games. Prizes for the evening went to Mary Ann Emerson of Ypsilanti; Helen Sietz, Barbara Lewis and Anne Davie with Cynthia Pavelka taking home the door award.

The 21 guests from Tarpon Springs, Florida; Willis, Ypsilanti, Garden City and Belleville then watched as the mother-to-be unwrapped the pretty items for the nursery arranged before a 'mural' of baby pictures. A buffet of assorted cakes, fruit salads, punch and coffee followed.

The party, planned two weeks prior to the baby's estimated-time-of-arrival, was held none too soon since Shirley delivered a 7 pound-3 ounce baby daughter just two days later.

Lutheran Ceremony Unites Linderman-Fischer

New residents of Belleville are Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Linderman of 20 Maple Drive who were united in marriage at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Westland.

The former Linda Lee Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Fischer of 30990 Ecorse Road, Inkster, spoke her nuptial vows to Robert Wayne Linderman in a six o'clock ceremony read by Rev. Robert A. Baer.

Given in marriage by her father, Linda appeared in a formal satin gown fashioned with a scalloped lace neckline studded with seed pearls. The sheer lace overlay also formed the bride's long, full sleeves.

Her nylon illusion veil fell to mid-back length from a floral headdress enhanced with tear drop crystals and she carried cascading white roses, carnations and ivy tendrils.

Distinguished by her nosegay of pink and red sweetheart roses centered with pink carnations was the matron of honor Mrs. James Gabocy of Westland. Bridesmaids carrying bouquets of pink and red sweetheart roses were Margie Linderman of Dearborn, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Gerald Glowacz of Roseville; Mrs. George Empson of Detroit; and Janet Skazalski of Dearborn Heights.

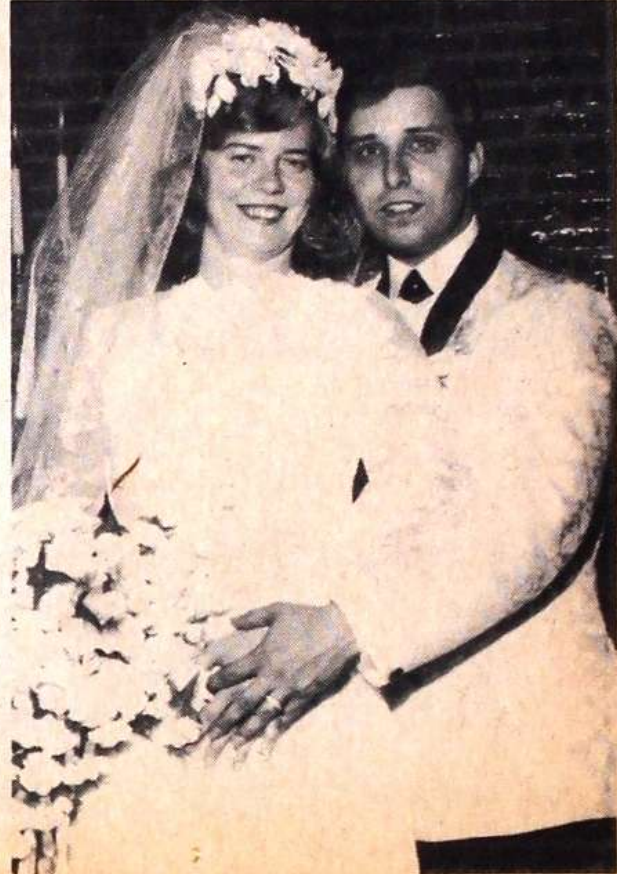

Their toe-touching frocks were in aqua chiffon with long sleeves and their headdresses were made of fresh ivy, baby's breath, and pink sweetheart roses. All wore engraved charm bracelets, gifts from the bride.

As her cousin's flowergirl, seven-year-old Kris Long donned a deep pink, floor-length frock in chiffon and carried a basket filled with aqua carnations and daisies.

Ringbearer was the bridegroom's cousin, seven-year-old Randy Linderman.

THE SON OF Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Linderman of 2454 Grindley Park, Dearborn, the bridegroom chose a close friend, Steve Chantelois of Dearborn, to assist as best man. Others on the esquire side were Edward Linderman, of Dearborn Heights and James Linderman of Dearborn, a cousin and brother of the bridegroom, respectively; George Empson of Detroit; and Ken Anderson of Dearborn.

Donna Hosman Is Bride

Ohio Is New Home For Newly Wed Groffs

Honeymooning in the Smokey Mountains this week are the newlywed Lawrence Groffs who will make their home at 4175 Americana Drive, Stow, Ohio following their wedding trip.

Donna Jean Hosman, daughter of the Donald Hosmans of 45952 Chatsworth Drive, Belleville, became Mrs. Groff in an August 8 ceremony at the First Congregational Church of Wayne. The seven o'clock service was read by Chaplain Robert Coapman, USN, formerly of Wayne, who came from Brunswick, Maine to officiate at his friend's double ring marriage.

For the occasion, the altar was appointed with baskets of white gladiolas and yellow daisies and mums with candles in wall sconces adding their glow to the seven o'clock rite.

Organist George Jewel of Livonia played traditional wedding selections and the love theme from 'Romeo and Juliet' as the bride's brother, Rodney Hosman, gave a reading, "How Do I Love Thee," by Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

ESCORTED UP the aisle by her father, Donna appeared in a dress designed and made by Mrs. Veso Story of Wayne. Fashioned of white Austrian lace, the bodice and long sleeves were cut in the Victorian mode. The skirt of chiffon over peau de sole, centered with a self bow at the back, terminated in a brief train.

A Victorian cap of matching lace held her illusion veil which cascaded into a cathedral train and she carried an arrangement of white carnations, stephanotis, small pom poms, and yellow daisies.

Wearing frocks made by the bride were four attendants including the matron of honor, Mrs. Barbara Brendtke, the bride's sister from Wayne; Janet Groff, the bridegroom's sister from Farmington; Mary Ann Sammut of Westland; and Christine Nault of Romulus.

Their yellow dotted swiss gowns were styled with short-sleeved, high-rise bodices trimmed with white lace and yellow daisies. Their headgear was formed of pale yellow crystals and tiny flowers and they held nosegays of yellow daisies tied with white streamers.

Three-year-old Paula Brendtke was the petite flowergirl at her aunt's wedding. Dressed in a miniature version of the senior attendants' gowns, she held a white basket filled with yellow daisies.

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Groff of 34268 Cortland, Farmington, asked a fraternity brother Gary Arnold of Grand Ledge, to serve as best man. The corps of ushers included other fraternity brothers Marvin Gayfield from Dover, New Jersey; Alan Ray from Thomasboro, Illinois; Robert Donovan and Eric Henriksen, both of Farmington, and Rodney Hosman, brother of the bride.

Roma Hall, Livonia, was reserved for the reception which followed. Some 230 guests from Sunnyvale, California; Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, and surrounding cities attended. Acting as masters of ceremony were the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Hosman of Wayne.

Mrs. Hosman selected for her daughter's wedding a mint green coat-dress ensemble with matching accessories while the bridegroom's mother donned peach chiffon with accessories to match. Both were presented with corsages of double cymbidium orchids.

Donna graduated from Belleville High School in 1965, attended Central Michigan and Michigan Technical Universities and is now with Michigan Bell in Livonia. Her husband graduated from Farmington High School in 1965 and from Michigan Tech in 1970 where he was affiliated with Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity. Noted Conservationist Retires, Almost At 83

Noted Conservationist Retires, Almost At 83

BY JAMES A.O. CROWE

Lumberman, reporter, columnist, editorial writer, publicist, market hunter, radio commentator, lecturer, teacher, novelist, freelance writer, conservationist, devoted outdoor sportsman and raconteur.

All these words and many more describe the legendary career of Lee J. Smits, a member of Michigan's first conservation commission and key figure in the founding of the National Wildlife Federation.

Now the people at Michigan Consolidated Gas Company and other friends are throwing a party later this month for Lee, because, at 83, they tell me he is retiring.

This is like trying to get me to believe that the Great Lakes have dried up. It seemed that Lee's working days, which started in the lumber camps along the Sturgeon River before the turn of the century, would never end.

Since those far-off days when Michigan was young, Lee has been credited with doing more to spread the gospel of good conservation in the state than anyone living.

His roots are deeply planted in his native state. His grandfather came to Cassopolis in the 1830's and ran a newspaper there for 50 years. Lee was born there on March 21, 1887.

An early devotee of the outdoor life, he tells of catching 3½ brook trout as a boy in the streams around Jackson where his father, a Congregationalist minister held a long pastorate.

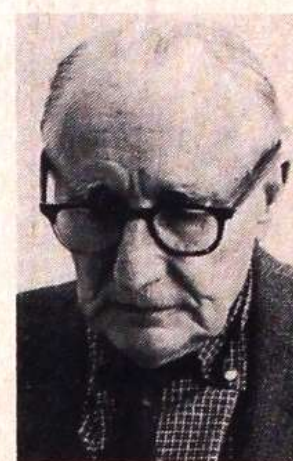

After high school, he worked for a while as a shanty boy in the lumber camps, and he is still telling the often racy stories of those rip-roaring days.

He tried Olivet College for a little while, but his higher education ended when the college president caught him coming out of a beer garden in town in his freshman year.

"That must have been around 1904," says Lee, who has never been known to have been pinned down on any exact dates or precise details of his life.

He arrived in Detroit some time later, and found the true love of his life — newspapering. He was a reporter, columnist, editorial writer and even, briefly, editor for the old Detroit Journal, Detroit News and Detroit Times.

He was outdoors editor of the Times in 1927 when then Gov. Fred W. Green appointed him to the newly-created Michigan Conservation Commission, on which he served until 1931. It was in here somewhere that he left for Washington for a while to serve as publicity director of the National Wildlife Federation, then being formed as the major national voice of organized sportsman.

In between and during all this, he wrote one novel, "The Spring Flight," a textbook on conservation and innumerable stories and articles for magazines.

He worked briefly on many newspapers outside Detroit, from Marquette to New York, and never let any of his jobs interfere with hunting and fishing trips.

Lee settled down a little in 1940 when he returned to Detroit to become a radio newscaster, first on WWJ-The Detroit News and then, under gas company sponsorship, on WXYZ for 15 years. Since 1956, he has been a "special representative" for the company, which meant he made up to 200 lectures and personal appearances a year.

In recent years, Lee has also been writing an outdoors column which the company supplied without charge to weekly and small daily newspapers in Michigan as a public relations gesture.

Now Lee is setting up his own little syndicate to sell the column to the same papers and any others who will buy.

I told you I couldn't believe his career is over.

4-H Club Reports

BELLEVILLE — Summer has brought many new activities for the Ta-Wan-Ka 4-H Club. The summer started out with a big bang!!!...a picnic at Silver Lake for the members and their families.

We enjoyed swimming, playing games and fried chicken. Afterwards everyone threw watermelon rinds at everyone else. One leader said, "I don't care what you do with them as long as the rinds are thrown in the garbage can," so they were.

Our next activity was a hayride and weenie roast. After we ate, everyone played hide and seek in the woods and roasted marshmallows.

And next, we decided to get back to work so we made leather and beaded goods to sell at the sidewalk sale in Belleville. It was a very successful idea and we had lots of fun.

And last but not least will be the Wayne County 4-H Parade and Fair, Aug. 18 through the 23.

We hope to see everyone at the fairgrounds for fun, rides and exhibits.

Commission Okays New Girlstown Site

BELLEVILLE — A site for the proposed Girlstown Foundation Home to be located on Quirk Rd., between Belleville Rd., and I-94 Expressway, received approval of the Van Buren Township Planning Commission this week.

The site plan was presented to the planners by Donald Paul Young of Bloomfield Hills at the commission's Aug. 5 session.

The proposed structure is a two-story building of brick construction and will include a living room, dining room, kitchen, conference room office, seven bedrooms, four and one-half baths, basement and three car garage.

The township's Board of Appeals had granted approval for such a building at its April 16, 1968 meeting. The approval for the structure on the site presently zoned R1-B (residential) was granted on the basis of a child care center. The board felt that it was the best use of the area and the location for the building.

The planners in considering the use of the property agreed with the Board of Appeals that the proposed Girlstown Foundation Home was the proper use of the property in its present zoning.

The planners recommended that at its next regular meeting there be a motion to strengthen the Board of Appeals decision and allow construction to begin.

Musical Youths Perform On English Concert Tour

BELLEVILLE — Local members of Musical Youth International (MYI) are now performing in England. They are nine local high school students participating in a five-week tour of the British Isles.

They arrived in London at 9:30 a.m., Sunday, June 28.

After a brief bus tour of London the students stopped at a restaurant in the Westminster area for their first taste of English cuisine. Then to the buses for a four hour trip through the English countryside to their first concert stop—Stroud, Gloucester. (In Stroud, as in other towns and villages on the tour, students live with local residents)

Musical Youth International's visit to Stroud lasted for two days and included an evening concert at Stroud High School for girls, and a trip to Berkeley Castle, a magnificent structure in Gloucestershire (county), which dates back to medieval times. On to Wales.

Traveling on a narrow winding roads, the bus tours through the countryside gave the students a good view of many tiny villages nestled in deep-green rolling hills. Houses, farms, and castles, are much as they were hundreds of years ago.

MYI arrived in Brecon, Wales on June 30. For the rest of the week Brecon was home. During the trips to the neighboring communities of Hereford and Abergavenny.

Performing in the cathedral of Hereford, England (or Wales, depending on whether one is English or Welsh) was an especially rewarding experience in Norman architecture, which provided a three second reverberation.

Breconians received their American visitors with much enthusiasm. Three concerts were given in Brecon.

Most Welsh speak English today, however students find interesting remnants of the ancient Welsh dialect. Such signs in both languages, magazines, and with a little prodding, many families are willing to let their young MYI guests hear a bit of their Welsh tongue.

Later in the month MYI students will be performing to audiences in these towns and villages in the British Isles:

Harverforwest, Wales, Woverhampton, England, Coventry, England, Huddersfield, England, Manchester, England, Castleford, England, Teesside, England, Edinburgh, Scotland, Carlisle, England, Workington, England, Rhyl, Wales, Worcester, England, Eastbourne, England.

On Friday, Aug. 7, MYI departed London for Detroit. On Saturday, MYI will perform in Grafton, Ohio and on Sunday, Aug. 9, Musical Youth International gave its annual home concert at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor.

The Executive director of MYI is Mrs. Bernice McCoy, wife of the late founder and Musical director-Lester McCoy.

The MYI Band is conducted by Ed Downing of Ann Arbor. The MYI chorus by Raymond Voorhees of Fenton.

Area students participating in the choir are: Roger Gillespie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gillespie of 21195 Elwell Rd., Belleville; Carol Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Myers, of 917

Woods Rd., Janet Rowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowe of 3250 Grove St.; Leon Varney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Varney of 46663 Ayres Dr., Belleville; Robert White, son of Mr. and Mrs. James White of 198 Spencer St., Belleville; David Carman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Carman of 9900 Mooreville Rd., Saline; Cathy Motto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Motto of 192 W. Columbia Ave., Belleville; and Mike Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart of 12400 Wabash St., Milan.

HOSPITAL BOUND — A helicopter and crew from Superior Ambulance Company, Wyandotte, are shown assisting an injured youth from Belleville and Ecorse Rds., to the Wayne County General Hospital. Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol reported that Glen Melick, 12, of 7639 Beck Rd., traveling south on Belleville Rd., crossed against the traffic signal into the side of a car being driven by Darden Miles, 20, of 2665 Boston Blvd., Detroit last Friday afternoon. The boy was treated and released.

Branding Irons Plan 4-H Fair Activities

BELLEVILLE — The Branding Irons 4-H Club is busy preparing for the Wayne County 4-H Fair to be held in Belleville Aug. 18 to 23.

The club has members participating in most of the categories for the fair. Some of the categories are live stock, including beef, goats, sheep, rabbits, poultry, ducks and fancy birds. The members will show their agricultural knowledge with their vegetables and flowers.

The beef project leader, Mr. Otter, is busy, along with members, preparing the animals for show condition. This includes trimming the hoofs and shaving heads and tails. Grooming techniques — which includes bathing the animals, marking and curling the hair and fluffing the tail — have been taught to members.

At the last beef project meeting Chris Fernandez gave a demonstration on curling and marking. Joan Otter demonstrated fluffing the tail.

The goat project was visited by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Abbott and their son, Randy. Abbott spoke about proper feeding and grooming. He sheared a goat and trimmed its hoofs. Randy demonstrated teaching a goat to walk and led the goat project members through a fun competition in preparation for the showing of goats at the fair.

All the goats have been sheared and trimmed by James Simpson, the project leader, and are ready for the fair.

A number of the Branding Irons members will show their home economics skills through baking. Others will show their projects in clothing and knitting.

The artistic knowledge and abilities of the Branding Irons members will be visible through their project in art, woodcarving and ceramics.

Joan Otter, president of the Branding Irons, is the club's only participant for Junior Leadership and is an entry for the 4-H Queen.

The Branding Irons designed and built a float to enter in the Wayne County Fair Parade to be held Sunday, Aug. 16. The theme of the parade is "Holidays."

This 4-H group completed their float early enough to enter the Waltz Homecoming Parade on July 12. The club won a third place prize in that parade. The Branding Irons float was also entered in the Monroe County Fair Parade on Aug. 9.

Members of the Branding Irons will participate in the clean up of the fairgrounds Saturday for their "Big Week" at the Wayne County 4-H Fair, Aug. 18 to 23.

Workshop Attracts Debaters

BELLEVILLE — More than 200 high school debaters are attending the University of Georgia Summer Debate Workshop.

The workshop, under the direction of Dr. Richard C. Huseman, director of debate at the university, has attracted students from nearly 26 states to the Athens, Ga., campus.

Among the students are three from the Belleville area. They are: Philip Martin, Brad Rockwell and Scot Silvenis.

Belleville Girl Is 'At Home' In Uruguay

ANN ARBOR — What happens when a group of high school juniors and seniors suddenly find themselves in a foreign country surrounded by non-English speaking people, strange food and different customs?

This has been the situation for the 64 members of the 1970 Youth for Understanding Choral since June 22, when they arrived in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, as the first stop on their seven-week tour of South America.

Kristen Ferrier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ferrier of 43415 Expressway, Belleville, is among those whose apprehensions began to fade within a few hours.

The different customs still existed, but the teenagers discovered a most warm, hospitable group of people who were interested in them and were willing to do most anything to make them feel at home during their stay. Both students and families alike have been enjoying the exchange of stories and ideas.

What the Choral members found is that many of their host families have had children who have been in the Youth for Understanding Exchange program and who had gone to school in the United States.

In Rio most of the Portuguese speaking hosts have studied a little English and were delighted to have a guest so that they could practice. The students also learned some Portuguese from their Brazilian families.

The Choral is now in Montevideo, Uruguay, after performing in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and Porto Alegre, Brazil. Ahead of them they have Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Santiago, Chile.

One song that has been most popular is "Cidade," the official state song of Brazil. The audience has great difficulty containing itself and by the end of the song, most people are clapping and singing along.

The young singers also appeared on a TV program that is popular over all of Brazil. The program which is similar to the Young Peoples' Concerts on U.S. television, featured the YFU Choral teamed with the Rio Youth Symphony.

Other activities that the young singers have had a chance to take part in beside performances and sightseeing, have been going to the beach, an all day boat trip, and attending a soccer match. They visited the Governor and took a three-day side trip and tour of Brazilia, Brazil's inland capital.

Upon returning to Rio, a large formal concert was given at the Municipal Theatre, a building built as a small replica of the Paris Opera House.

The YFU Choral has adopted "Everytime I Feel the Spirit" as their theme this year, and it has evidently been fitting of the "spirit" met wherever they appear.

The Choral members will soon be home and will give their annual Homecoming concert on Sunday, Aug. 23 at Hill Auditorium at 3 p.m. There will be no admission charge.

The Youth for Understanding Choral is a mixed ensemble of high school juniors and seniors from Michigan and Ohio area schools. Conductor is Robert Pratt, chairman of the Music Department of Ann Arbor Pioneer High School, who has been in charge of the Choral since 1964.

Each singer in the Choral has been recommended by the music department of his own high school and they were in weekly rehearsal since November, 1969.

The purpose of the YFU Choral is to interpret America to people of other countries through music.

Dr. Rachel Andersen, executive director of Youth for Understanding, explains that the Choral is just one of the opportunities of YFU in its international teenage exchange.

YFU is a non-profit organization that works in cooperation with educational and religious groups and with the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the Department of State.

Surprise In Romulus Softball

Anchor Block Retains Title

Baum's Funeral Home learned to its dismay that there are no sure things in sports. The Romulus Adult Softball League leader for the past two months discovered too late that Anchor Block had no intentions of giving up its title.

Anchor Block, the defending champ and running second to Baum's throughout most of the 1970 campaign, came up with a crucial 4-3 victory against the previous front-runner to retain the city championship.

The champs have compiled a 17-3 won-lost record, while Baum's, who for some strange reason forfeited their final game, finished with a 15-5 ratio.

Anchor Block, therefore, became the city champ and will also represent Romulus at the annual downriver softball tournament to be staged in Ecorse later this month.

Meanwhile, the first four teams that finished below Anchor's in the standings will compete in a post-season tournament.

Anchor Block wrapped up the league season with a close 2-1 win over Cue Corners as Dewey Cole provided the winners with the fireworks at the plate, slicing three for three.

Chuck Hazen, the winner against Baum's, also posted the victory against Cue Corners, getting excellent backing from his defense. Second baseman Les Pennington saved the day with a last inning, leaping catch of a line drive which he turned in a crucial double play.

It was the defense again that sparked Anchor's victory over Baum's. Again, in the last stanza, Anchor Block's rightfielder, Rick Paglia, made a brilliant catch of a hard hit ball and quickly pivoted and fired the ball to catcher Don Delano for a double play.

Tom Block bagged two for three for Block's, who rallied from 3-1 deficit to win.

"It appeared that Baum's was going to take it from us," said Anchor Block manager Dave Rakotz. "But our team never let-down and played excellent ball under pressure."

The league will also stage its annual All-Star Game on Sun., Aug. 16 at 4:30 p.m. at Romulus Junior High School. The top players in the first division will take on the top players in the second division.

WINNING TOUCH — Anchor Block's Chuck Hazen finishes his windup and unleashes the ball towards a Baum's batter. Hazen (above) hurled the defending Romulus Adult Softball champs to a 4-3 victory over title hopeful, Baum's, to clinch the championship.

THE SHADOW KNOWS — Is Baum's Steve Baker out or safe at first? The "Shadow" knows and if you look carefully you'll see the shadow of the ball on the diamond which can bring you to one conclusion — that the ball is still in flight. And if that detective work isn't enough, well, the ump (at left) is flashing the "safe sign."

City Golf Tourney Postponed

Rescheduled for Aug. 22 and 23

Dates for the annual City Golf Tournament have been revised. It was announced this week by tourney director, Tom Mooradian.

"We are forced to set the playing dates back one week because many of the amateur golfers from our area will be competing in another tourney," said Mooradian. "They had made these commitments before hand and asked us if possible to revise the dates."

The tournament, originally set for this weekend, will be staged on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 22 and 23 at Fellows Creek Golf Course.

Amateur golfers from Wayne, Westland, and Garden City will be competing for city titles as well as a berth on their respective city's team which will vie for the state championship.

The tournament, co-sponsored by the Associated Newspapers, is opened to golfers who live or work (at least 30 hours) in the city in which he will be competing. (However, only bonafide residents may advance to the state tournament).

The championship will be decided on 36-hole medal play.

Entry fee is $13.50, which will cover expenses for a $10 green's fee and the purchasing of trophies. Trophies will be awarded to each of the four medalists of the cities and also to the tournament winner.

Any monies left over will be shared among the four recreation departments to help them defray costs of sending their respective teams to the state finals.

The city teams will be made up of the five low scorers from each of the four cities.

In order to better accommodate each golfer, participants are requested to state times which they prefer to play. Deadline for preferred time is 5 p.m. on Friday. The entry blank, at the end of the article, should be filled out along with entry

Robichaud Picks Yauch As New Grid Coach

By MIKE HENDRICKS

Robichaud High School Athletic Director Bernie Ingle reached into far-off Iowa to pluck a grid plum in hopes of ending that Dearborn Heights high school's football frustrations.

Ingle announced this week that the administration has hired Robert Yauch to handle the head coaching responsibilities.

Yauch, 30, replaces second year head coach Jim Hadley whose team failed to break into the winning column in the 1969 campaign.

"We feel Yauch can do the job for us," said Ingle. "He brings outstanding credentials and a vast amount of experience to our school."

Yauch, who prepped at Saginaw High School where he won acclaim in his junior year as an All-State tackle, was graduated from Iowa University in 1962. He has a bachelor's in political science.

Yauch was a member of the 1960 Iowa squad which captured a share of the Big 10 championship.

Upon graduation from Iowa, Yauch took over as the line coach at the University of Upper Iowa — his first coaching assignment.

After a year as line coach he moved to Buffalo Center and later to Hampton High schools where his teams compiled a commendable 32-24-3 won-lost-tied record.

"I am pleased that I have been given the opportunity to coach here at Robichaud," said coach Yauch. "I know the team has had its share of problems, but, working together I know we can resolve them."

Coach Yauch will start practice sessions on August 24 when an anticipated 15 returning lettermen who carded a 0-9 record last year will be on hand to greet their new coach.

Yauch will be assisted by Francis McCauley, Lloyd Coleman, Dave Pickett and Richard Mason.

The Bulldogs open up their nonleague slate on September 18 when they meet Willow Run.

Bortel Shooting Champion

Fighting rainstorms and hurricane tailwinds in addition to more than 850 other marksmen from all over the world the Thunderbird Gun Club of Belleville just about walked off with the world skeet shooting championship and did come back with one champion and a sixth place finisher.

The Belleville outfit, led by Bill Bortel of Howell and Eddie Petroff of Belleville dominated the team standings during the first few days of competition before floundering out of sight.

Bortel, who compiled 98 points out of a possible 100 won the AA 41C gauge crown and Petroff placed sixth in the AA 20 gauge division.

Pistons Coming To Westland

Area youngsters will get an opportunity to learn the fundamentals of basketball from the pros as big time basketball comes to Westland in the form of a clinic staged by the Detroit Pistons.

The clinic, co-sponsored by the Stroh's Ice Cream Division, will be conducted on August 13 at the Westland Shopping Center's parking lot No. 1.

The program will begin at 11 a.m. with Piston coach Bill Von Bredda Koff and his stars on hand to show how the pros play ball.

The Piston coach will also answer questions.

The clinic is a continuation of the Pistons' summer basketball program that brings the star players to the kids. On hand also will be Piston standouts Dave Bing, Jimmy Walker and Otto Moore.

Some 1,200 youngsters are expected to participate in the clinic. Stroh's will also offer free ice cream and prizes to the youngsters.

Let's Outlaw Vacations

There should be some kind of law against vacations. I, for one, would gladly lead an anti-vacation campaign, especially after my recent trip North.

There I was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Oscoda, who have a beautiful place on Lake Huron. There I was for two whole weeks — enjoying life, swimming, jogging and almost feeling happy to be alive.

There I was in pursuit of life, liberty and women — and HERE I am pounding on this keyboard, struggling to meet a deadline — there should be a law against it all!

Yes, I'm back. So, Little League mothers grab that phone (No, not you Mrs. Mandeville, I'm afraid I couldn't take you on as well as our executive editor, Basil Stevens did!)

Just think — if I hadn't had those two weeks off — I wouldn't have known how real humans live. Ah, yes, there should be a law against giving a guy a couple of weeks of ennui.

And, before, I pound another key, I must thank Mike Hendricks, who filled in for us while we were away — for an outstanding job.

And that nasty Little League mother who gave our Mike a hard time had no right to do so. The culprit is this columnist, so Mrs. Little League — betcha you won't say those things you told our stand-in to me? Betcha!

A Vanishing Act

Has anyone seen Ivan (the Terrible) Kinshella? He's disappeared. The manager-pitcher for Baum's Funeral Home, who subs as Romulus' Adult Softball League's P.R. Man, didn't come around with the scoresheets this week.

Hope nothing awful has happened to him?

But, again, he could have skipped town after underdog, Anchor Block, knocked Baum's off to win the softball championship. Baum's was in the lead all season long — but lost out in the final week.

Ivan, that's terrible!

And, speaking of softball, Donald A. Myskowski, of Inkster, reminds us that George Smith's entry in Garden City's softball league is on the verge of winning the United States Slow-Pitch Softball Association's State Area Tournament.

"We're one game away from the title," said Myskowski. "If we win tonight, (Wed., Aug. 12) we will move on to the World Softball Tournament in Rochester, New York."

"How about giving our team a plug?"

O.K. I did.

Incidentally, George Smith Realty's is managed by former Fordson High School grid star, A.J. Vaughn, who went on to earn an All-American berth as a quarterback while at Wayne State University.

A.J. who has helped us at East High School as an assistant football coach is presently teaching in the Garden City public school system.

Yes, I'm back.

Democratic Primary Is Area's Best Show

By DICK MCKNIGHT
NEWS EDITOR

There is no show in western Wayne County that can attract more public attention than a Democratic party primary election.

With the heavily Democratic leanings of area voters as a backdrop, the Democratic primary candidates go into the biannual bloodletting with virtual election to office at stake.

Chances are the general election in November will be a quiet affair in western Wayne County with attention centered on the statewide races for Governor and United States Senator.

The most dramatic primary contest in the area was that for the 13th State Senatorial Democratic nomination. Incumbent Sen. William Faust showed unexpected strength in crushing the hopes of challenger Vincent Petitpren, who gave up his 37th State Representative seat to run for the Senate.

Petitpren had chosen this race as a turning point in his political career. A proven votegetter, Petitpren ran a strong, aggressive campaign that left some tempers hot. Right up to election night, it looked to many observers as if Petitpren would have a fighting chance.

What most of the observers didn't bargain for was the solid grass-roots power of William Faust. Faust's campaign was not rated as a strong one, especially by his own standards. The result showed that Faust had won the confidence of the voters during the past four years of his Senate term.

Among the highlights of the Faust-Petitpren race:

Both Faust and Petitpren had trouble winning their home precincts in Westland. Petitpren won his Elliott School area precinct by eight votes, and Faust carried his Palmer-Wayne Rd. area precinct by 13 votes.

The 28th precinct, in southeast Westland, was the center of a recent controversy over development of an industrial park in the all-black area. Petitpren had supported those who opposed the industrial park, and was expected to gain votes because of it.

The results showed Faust winning the area 249 votes to 44 votes, apparently because of strong Faust support among community leaders.

Another big surprise was the stunning victory won by incumbent State Rep. James Tierney over his Democratic primary opponent, Garden City Mayor Timothy Murphy.

Murphy didn't carry a single Garder. City precinct, and lost his home precinct to Tierney by a 162-49 vote margin. In Westland, Tierney took every precinct and the victory extended to every other community in the 36th District.

Murphy had garnered a number of endorsements from party and union groups, but apparently the political advantage did not extend to the voters themselves. Murphy had attacked Tierney's relatively conservative voting record, which he characterized as not progressive and anti-union.

What the voters indicated, finally, was that Tierney's voting record follows closely the beliefs of his constituents, and that Murphy's claims probably only served to convince the voters that they favored Tierney.

In the 37th State Representative District, a tight race between former Westland Mayor Thomas H. Brown and Westland Councilman Mrs. Justine Barns was won decisively by Brown.

It was apparently Brown's familiarity with voters that sealed his victory. A figure on the local scene for many years, Brown's name was better known than Mrs. Barns'. Mrs. Barns' campaign was the more aggressive, but she apparently had more ground to make up than observers had believed.

Many politicians thought Mrs. Barns would pick up a strong female vote, but this did not materialize.

Mrs. Barns showed strength in one area—the new subdivisions of the western side of Westland, where most voters were casting their first primary ballots since moving to the area. Brown was beaten in the same area a year ago in his try for re-election as Westland mayor.

Brown and Mrs. Barns split the precincts in Westland's

Norway area, where both live. Brown's victory in his own precinct was stronger than Mrs. Barns' edge in hers.

Brown's reputation as Westland mayor apparently carried over to areas of Westland in the 36th District. There Brown received a single write-in vote.

Brown ran well in all cities of the 37th District, carrying Wayne, Westland and Inkster.

In Westland's north end, Richard Stempien had hoped to win enough votes to defeat incumbent State Rep. Richard Young in the 33rd District Democratic primary. But Stempien lost his home area in Westland by more than 200 votes.

Young racked up large margins in his home areas of Dearborn Heights. Stempien's name identification with Rep. Marvin Stempien of Livonia, a cousin, may have helped in Livonia precincts in the 33rd District, where Stempien took the edge by a handful of votes over Young.

In the 38th State Representative District, incumbent Edward Mahalak won a decisive victory over challenger Carl Morris in the Democratic primary. Morris had been given a good chance to win because of his long record of service in education, a key issue in the area.

But Mahalak's political power was underrated, the results proved, and Mahalak won most areas of the district. The fact CONGRATULATIONS — State Sen. William Faust is congratulated by Jim Guilbault following his 2 to 1 victory over his challenger, State Rep. Vincent Petitpren, for the 13th district senate seat.

Jackson Statement Follows Millage Defeat

The defeat of the proposed millage for Wayne County Community College brought the following statement from Murray Jackson, President of the college: "Wayne County Community College has lost in its latest attempt to secure an independent financial base of operation.

"Furthermore we have demonstrated, under trying financial conditions, that Wayne County Community College has the ability to meet that need with quality education. I honestly thought that, given those two pieces of evidence, the voters of the county would vote yes for millage. But they didn't.

going to give to those who want it education, vocational-technical training and community service.

"Registration for fall classes will begin on September 8.

"Classes in the forty-five learning centers of Wayne County Community College will begin on September 14."

"We will continue, therefore, as the only county in the state that does not provide home finances for its community college. We are still determined however to bring a new, creative and vital force to the people of this county.

Last September, without the millage money, we opened our doors and let the people of the county vote 'yes' or 'no' for community education.

Almost ten thousand people responded by taking classes in the first year. This coming year we expect fourteen thousand or more to register, and within the decade we anticipate a yearly enrollment of some fifty thousand people. That is need; that is a 'yes' for community education; and we are not going to turn our backs on it.

"I would be less than honest if I did not express my deep disappointment over the refusal of the voters to pass our request for millage funds. In our minds we have demonstrated over the past year the real need for community education for Wayne County.

"Taxes are high and people don't want to pay any more. I can understand that as I'm a taxpayer too. But we have a job to do. We are committed to total quality education for the people of our county and, millage or not, that is what we are going to do.

"I call on all the citizens of the county, on all our friends in education, in the unions, in business, in government, in private life to step forward and give of themselves by helping us to continue and expand our educational opportunities for the people of this country. Wayne County Community College is here to stay. We are

Social Security News

Q. My doctor has just told me that I am too disabled to work and that I can expect to be out of work for a long time. When should I inquire at the social security office about applying for social security benefits?

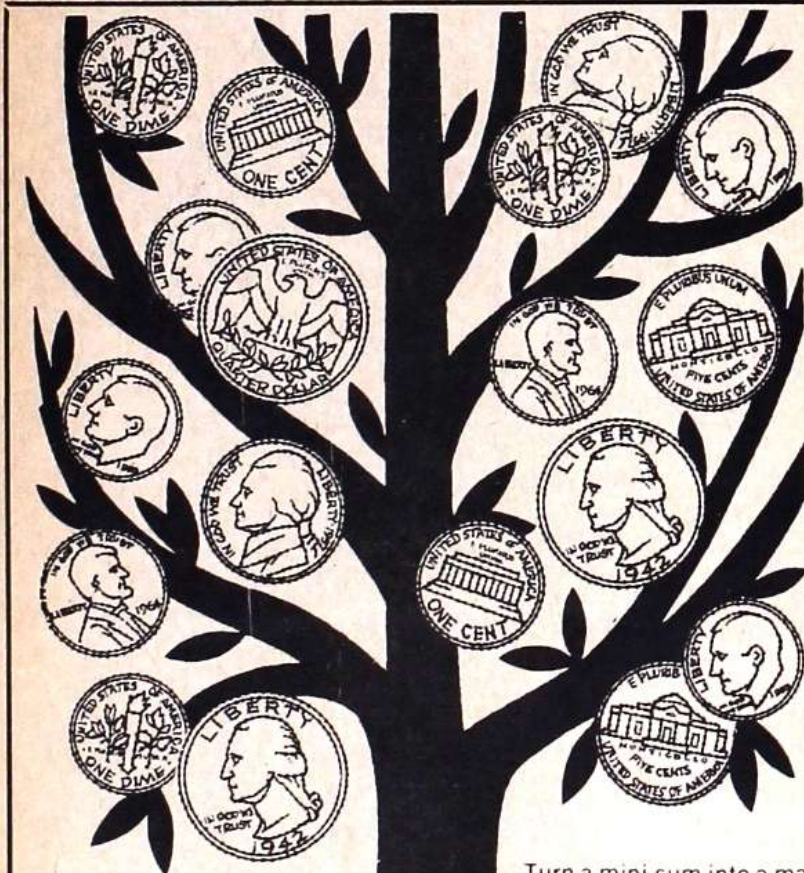

A. You should inquire about your social security disability benefits at your social security office immediately.

Q. I understand that I won't get any social security disability benefits for the first six months after I became disabled. Why should I be in any hurry to apply?

A. Because it takes several weeks after you apply before a decision can be made.

Q. Why can't a decision be made as soon as I apply for my disability?

A. There are several reasons. We have to ask for medical reports from your doctors and hospitals where you have received treatment. Then these reports must be sent to a reviewing agency for a determination as to the severity of your impairment.

State Fair To Display Junior Industrial Art

Visitors to the 1970 Michigan State Fair will see what the state's youngsters have been learning in their industrial arts classes.

As part of the Junior Show exhibits, boys and girls 10 to 18 will display wood, metal, leather, and plastic projects with the top ones winning trophies, ribbons, and cash prizes.

The Industrial Arts section is split into two divisions — for boys and girls 10 to 13 and for those 14 through 18.

E.J. (Jeff) Keirns, State

Fair general manager, said wood items entered will include tables, chairs, benches, chests, desks, lamps, bowls, and carvings.

In metals, the youngsters will display barbecue grills, patio furniture, chandeliers, pails, mailboxes, water cans, and other items.

graphic arts and drawings also will receive prizes, and a miscellaneous category will allow youngsters to enter any projects not included elsewhere.

Earlier the State Fair announced a new Hobby

Show for Youths. This is a section of the Junior Department opened to all boys and girls who have not entered work in the fair's Industrial Arts classes.

Also to give young livestock exhibitors greater recognition, the State Fair has separated the Junior show from the Open Class Show this year.

The fair opens Friday, Aug. 28, and runs through Monday, Sept. 7 (Labor Day) at the State Fairgrounds, Eight Mile and Woodward, Detroit.

Cores Of Golf Balls Could Cause Injury

Don't let children play or experiment with golf balls: the result could be a severe eye injury.

That's the word from the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, which has received a number of reports of eye injuries caused by golf balls exploding when children cut them open to "see what's inside."

The danger lies in the ball's liquid core, which is under pressure of up to 2,500 pounds per square inch and can easily explode if pierced or cut into. An additional hazard exists from the chemicals which are used to make up the cores of several brands of golf balls.

The substance used for ball cores varies with the manufacturer, and the list of possible ingredients, according to information received by the society, includes sulfuric acid, barium salts, zinc sulfide, silicone, gelatin, corn syrup, ethylene glycol, lead oxide paste, mineral oil, sodium hydroxide, castor oil and water.

"Only recently," reports Wilfred D. David, M.D., the society's executive director, "we were apprised of a case in which an Oklahoma City fourth grader was sprayed in the face with the liquid chemical from the core of a golf ball he had punctured. In this instance, the child was fortunate — two of his classmates had the foresight to bathe his eyes while another went for help, with the result that the boy suffered only minor eye burns. Other children engaged in similar "experiments" have not been as lucky.

The society urges that golf balls be kept on the fairway — and out of the hands of youngsters.

Regent Selections Pose Serious State Challenge

Both major political parties will nominate eight candidates to elective boards which run Michigan's colleges and universities.

The jobs are overshadowed by the political prestige of a governor or a United States Senator and, in the way partisans measure things, they are extras without much real significance.

This year the realities of crisis on the campuses make these choices among the most vital either party can make.

Two candidates will be nominated by each party for the University of Michigan Board of Regents, the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, the Wayne State University Board of Governors and the State Board of Education.

Too often these nominations have been the prize for years of political hackdom, a deep bow to a special interest group or a casual payoff for a real or fancied contribution to the public good.

None of these boards have covered itself with glory as the crisis on the campus has erupted into perhaps the major issue of our time.

At the University of Michigan, the Regents responded to a violent student sit-in by agreeing in hilarious confusion to give blacks a 10 percent quota of the student body by 1975. There was no meaningful negotiation or authority expressed.

The Regents solved the crisis by running away.

At Michigan State University, the Trustees turned it all over to administrators who solved the problem of student destruction by making polite sounds until it ended, inconclusively.

Wayne State University board members allowed the president to patty-cake with a group of students and non-students who published obscenities in a newspaper subsidized from state funds.

For generations academicians have preached to all who would listen that a university is a place of inquiry and that they needed freedom to pursue knowledge.

In their first major test of freedom — with the public watching to test whether administrators and professors could, indeed, run their universities — they failed, miserably.

Even Gov. Milliken has been trying to abolish the State Board of Education, created in its present form by the 1963 constitution.

Its members have spent endless hours and days fighting partisan battles, some promoting themselves for higher office, others nit-picking over minor philosophical and personal views.

None of the boards has shown an ability to control even the administrators they hire. None has grasped the full meaning or realized in any substantial way the importance of making policy for what others have called the major hope of mankind.

That's why what the Democrats do in Grand Rapids at their nominating convention Aug. 22 and what the Republicans do in Detroit Aug. 29 will be crucial this election year.

The early pattern is bleak. Even the MSU alumni have established teams to propose candidates for each party, an approach more likely to produce football stars and lead singers in fraternity quartets.

We concede that both parties have a self-perpetuating duty to nominate candidates who are attractive to the voters and who can be elected.

This year — in the light of the record — we feel it's conceivable that the voters will find most attractive those candidates capable of running a university, or at the least, those with enough statesmanship to run the administrators, on behalf of the peoples of the state of Michigan.

Campaign Innuendoes Can't Be Condoned

The campaign just ended in western Wayne County has left us with a bad taste in our mouths.

A few short months ago, we indicated in these columns that a clean, open campaign would benefit the community and allow the voters to choose their candidates in an atmosphere of honest competition.

Fair play should not be compromised for the sake of personal ambition. This should be true in the political arena as well as in other areas of human endeavor. We believe this. We believe the people of western Wayne County believe it.

And we will speak out any time we feel the principals of fair play are violated.

In the campaign for the nomination to the State Senate in the Democratic primary in the 13th District, the contest fell short of measuring up to standards of fair play.

We are speaking specifically about literature distributed in the last days of the campaign by State Rep. Vincent Petitpren's supporters, attacking Sen. William Faust.

The literature openly indicated that, because Sen. Faust was not married and did not have children, he was somehow lacking in the ability to represent the 13th District. We find the implication unpleasant, unwarranted and unfair.

The literature indicated that labels like "excellent" and "poor" could be applied to the attendance records of Petitpren and Faust respectively. This is a matter of dispute, and the innuendo was unfair.

The literature further indicated that Faust was to blame because he did not chair any legislative committee. In a Republican controlled Senate, no Democrat can head a committee.

At the same time, reports indicate the supporters of many candidates were busy tearing down the campaign signs of other candidates.

We do not believe such campaign techniques should be condoned by the citizens. They represent the manipulation of facts to create an unfair impression and to mislead the voters.

While the character and integrity of every candidate is to be weighed by the voters before making a decision, there are elements of each candidate's personal life which are not open to public discussion.

The literature to which we object has violated the rule of fair play by attempting to discredit a candidate's personal integrity. Such practices should be eliminated from political campaigns.

There is, of course, one practical reason why personal considerations should be left out of politics. The reason is: such practices have no bearing on a candidate's ability to serve in public office. The voting public can learn nothing of value from hearing irresponsible innuendoes.

We do not believe unfair campaign practices are the province of any single candidate. Innuendoes in a political campaign are nothing new. Such practices became apparent in the mayoral contest in Livonia, and that incident prompted our previous request for an open, fair campaign.

We hope that, in the coming general election campaign, fairness in campaign tactics will be the rule. The citizens of western Wayne County deserve nothing less from the candidates for all offices, of all parties.

At any rate, the voters have spoken in the primary elections. We do not believe objectionable campaign practices were honored by those who voted. This should be an indication that unfair campaign tactics are a losing proposition.

Education Takes A Backward Step

By DICK McKNIGHT

Roses to the voters of Wayne and Inkster.

Onions to those who balloted in Westland and Belleville.

The Wayne County Community College met disaster for the second time at the polls last week. As a result, the 9000 students already attending the college may be left out in the cold.

An estimated 50,000 more persons per year in the next few years will have to look elsewhere for community college education.

It is an educational disaster, particularly for those young people and interested adults who live in western Wayne County. If Schoolcraft College and Henry Ford Community College ever tighten their entrance requirements for residents — many of us could find ourselves out in the cold.

The election debacle leaves Wayne County as one of the only populous counties in the nation without a community college system. Community colleges already exist in Oakland and Macomb Counties, as well as Monroe and Washtenaw counties on Wayne county borders.

The reasons for the defeat are not entirely clear, although it has now become unmistakably clear that Wayne County residents will not approve a community college measure as long as the present 'surly' voter mood continues.

A lot of ideas have been offered to explain the failure of the community college millage. High tax rates, particularly those which have risen massively in the last few years, are causing some of the discontent.

Student protests and campus violence have soured many voters on high education. This has created a backlash particularly among middle class white voters who make up the majority of those balloting in Western Wayne County.

Another reason, perhaps most important, is that the people of western Wayne County do not value higher education enough to provide it for their own children.

Obviously, there are many who do want the community college, but the majority seems to believe that it is not necessary at all. Perhaps these are the same people who believe that in the present complex world the school systems can go back to the three 'R's.

What affect this absence of mind on the part of area voters will have on young people is unpredictable. But, one thing is most certain: The effect will not be good one. The voters have chosen convenience at the expense of their own children.

Lansing Highlights

Milliken Prepares For Fight

By DON HOENSHELL

LANSING — Gov. Milliken blinked away the sting of the primary election and said Republican campaigners will have to re-gear for the long drive toward Nov. 3.

It was the most poignant understatement since Custer called for more troops at Little Big Horn.

Republican leaders in Michigan suffered an agonizing victory in the Aug. 4 primary, handed Democrats ammunition for the campaign ahead and watched a schism develop in their own party.

Milliken smiled through the disappointment and, tactically sought to take the news play away from the tight victory of Lenore Romney over State Senator Robert J. Huber in the U.S. Senate race.

"It certainly suggests that a great deal of work has to be done, a great deal of work has to be done in both the Republican party and among the Democrats and independents," he said.

"What really counts now is how we move into the fall campaign. My approach will be as I've indicated. It's going to be a hard-hitting fighting campaign."

Milliken's task is to regroup the party from the conservative Huber split-off, help Lenore move against incumbent Democratic U.S. Senator Philip A. Hart.

Those are the extras.

He's got to fight for votes himself with State

Senator Sander M. Levin, the Democratic nominee for his own job, by putting down early criticism that he lacks the clout of leadership in his own party.

Levin largely ignored his three primary opponents, zinging at Milliken on the leadership issue. The close race Huber ran against Lenore validates the charge for Democrats.

For it was Lenore — the wife of Milliken's political benefactor — who won a confusing consensus designation of Republican leaders in a series of meetings boycotted by Huber.

Huber charged that former Gov. Goege Romney, now secretary of Housing and Urban Development in the Nixon administration, engineered the consensus by calling in his political due bills from Milliken and U.S. Senator Robert P. Griffin.

And as he departed, Huber took a chunk of the Republican vote with him.

Milliken and his aides contend there was no single or identifiable number of factors. The conservative swing, they say, was overstressed by the light voter turnout over the state.

The governor said a series of stories in The Detroit News indicating that Romney was going to use federal housing funds as a club to force integration on the Detroit suburbs hurt her there.

The fear that existing institutions cannot control crime on the streets and upheaval on the campuses was also a factor. Huber's underdog role attacking the Establishment was another.

Three weeks before the primary Griffin and Milliken were plainly worried about Lenore. Shortly after, she switched from a general appeal to comment on the issues Huber had discussed all along.

By concentratedly down-playing the Romney name, she emphasized it. She stated repeatedly that she was her own woman, her own candidate, and would not trade on the Romney name.

She parted company with the Nixon administration on inflation, calling for wage and price guidelines, and only qualifiedly supported the President's invasion into Cambodia routing out sanctuaries.

Now Milliken and other top Republican brass are convinced Lenore needs help against Hart. And Democrats, impressed at the array, know Hart must campaign harder than 1964 when he defeated Mrs. Elly Peterson by 900,000 votes in a 3 million-vote general election.

Milliken, in his own race, said he wasn't surprised that Howell Publisher James C. Turner picked up 100,000 votes.

But Turner — bereft of issues except corruption in high places — was running without money, without high priced staffers and against an incumbent with a statewide name.

Milliken hop-scotched over the Romney problem by challenging Levin to a nonpartisan hiatus to get major legislation passed this fall.

Let's Vote For A Change

By DANN BARKUME

Primary elections in Michigan as well as western Wayne County are new history. The winners will head on into battle for the right to represent the public following November's general election. The losers will lick their wounds and start planning for the next one, maybe.

It seems funny, but these electoral marathons which occur with a surprising degree of regularity are looked forward to by so many yet participated in by so few.

Even a presidential race only draws between 60 and 70 percent of the voters. Off-year primary elections draw around 30 per cent on the average and this year's election was no different.

Elections are as much a part of American folklore as the donkey and the elephant. Campaigns are planned to have finesse and polish and usually end up with all the romance of a ballad sung by the MC 5.

People come out to see, to hear, sometimes to laugh. People seem interested in the campaign, but they don't have enough interest to go the full route and head out to the polls.

The candidates spend a lot of time preparing for the election. Untold thousands of dollars are spent on balloons, banners, bumper stickers, badges, signs, billboards and what-have-you. Voters enjoy the hand outs, politely listen to the platform of the candidate in question, then retire to their barbeque pits.

Election day rolls around and they are still waiting for the charcoal to dry out.

This writer finds it hard to figure out why people just don't care. They don't bother to vote, yet you can bet a case of ketchup and mustard that they will be the first to complain once Charlie Legislator or Herman Councilman does something that isn't quite to the chef's liking.

So goes the story.

Everyone has a right to complain; after all, that old expression says it's a free country. Everyone also has a right to vote but a lot of people always have an excuse for not making it to the polls. A lot of times they just can't be bothered.

The November election is still a few months off. Why not get involved for a change, why not vote. Some people may be surprised to find out that voting machines are now automated and all you have to do is push a few levers.

Why not try it, it's easy.

Village Pays Tribute To Old-Time Musical

By HOWARD ALLEN
Panax Amusement Critic

The musical is probably America's most authentic contribution to the history of theater and its roots go deep into native drama, doing much to explain the frivolous weak-book musicals which persisted into the thirties and forties.

This lack of sophistication, of course, permeated the entire 19th century theater.

The addition of songs into an unreal book seemed much less unreal then and this format could persist well after O'Neill and others were revolutionizing straight drama after World War I.

opened in 1891, only the second or third hit musical to resemble what we would call a musical today.

Director Joseph French, who occasionally has shown a bit too much reverence for vehicles which can be performed successfully only in the broadest fashion today, has expanded his staging of the Hoyt-Gaunt musical originally presented last year to emphasize the farcical aspects. "Chinatown," a forerunner of "Matchmaker" and "Dolly" in that it concerns a widow who schemes to allow two young couples a night on the town, all of whom wind up at the same restaurant with the stern parent, was made for an era in which the comic lead is a hypochondriac taking a dynamite-based medicine and who expects to die either of the disease or the cure.

"Chinatown" was written for an audience which could accept this sort of humor and French's realization that you can't treat this sort of thing too seriously today makes it one of the Festival's most welcome productions in years. The cast, as ever, continues to make you wish for a bigger budget.

The values of period staging are also brought home in Ann Arbor where the University of Michigan Players staged Garson Kanin's post-war hit, "Born Yesterday," at the Lydia Mendelsohn Theatre.

It would have been far too easy for director William P. Halstead to seek "relevance" by updating political jokes, but the result would have been a hopelessly unacceptable mixture, particular since the heroine Billie Dawn comes to develop what today might seem a somewhat sentimental attitude towards political ethics. Few young people today would assume that the office of senator, for example, envelops the office-holder in a mantle almost godlike.

Debbie Reynolds offered more at the Fisher than a mere cabaret act. Her production is splashy and well staged, featuring a pleasant youthful chorus with the awkward name of "The Unusual We" and an absurd chorus of female grotesques.

Concerned Residents Speak On Book Ban

To The Editor:

In regards to your article covering the last school board meeting, we think a few statements should be made. Your reporter did not write an eyewitness account of what went on. You see, she was not present at the meeting during the discussion on "Catcher In Rye." Her information came from the public relations man, from the administration. This is not fair because, naturally, a biased report would be given. We would like to clarify a few of the items that the administrator conveniently overlooked.

No. 1. He did not tell your reporter that a complaint form from one of the churches, containing 44 attached signatures, had been turned in preceding the last meeting requesting "Catcher In The Rye" be banned, and 101 followed at the last night.

No. 2. Again, he failed to tell your reporter that the book is being used in the 9th grade English classes.

No. 3. He failed to tell her that Mr. Barsemian and Mr. Neville, who spoke in favor of the book, are members of the PTA Council, and that they both sat on the committee that endorsed much of the filth contained in the "Family Life and Sex Education" program that was halted because of 3,085 signatures against it.

It is our opinion that there may be a grudge held by the members of that committee against those of us who petitioned against the filth proposed for our children.

Mr. Neville and Mr. Barsemian both are in favor of their children reading the book. That is fine with us. Let them go out and buy it from the "Book Nook." But many of us object to God's name being taken in vain and cursing being used in a school book. We also object to any sacrilegious materials being given to our children by the schools. We do not care what the two men want for their children.

Mr. Neville was quoted in your paper referring to the objectors of the book as "a little band of people." Isn't it odd that your reporter failed to state that we have made it clear that 13 churches and their congregations are in favor of a ban?

Our main question is "Who are our school's board and our administrators trying to please?" Surely not the parents, and obviously they don't care what the churches think!

Maybe some of the reporters here in our town should do some articles on our so-called PTA Council and report on the political power they seem to have. Also the power that they seem to have in approving materials for our children.

Maybe it should be told that the PTA has been taking stands on items in the past that certainly would not seem to be an asset to our children. For instance, did you know that the state PTA came out with a statement that they are backing the abortion reform?

Did you know that Jane Tate, state PTA president, has even appeared making public speeches on abortion? Come on now, what does that have to do with education? And how about her stand on the hospital for narcotic users? Could it be that she is on the board of directors for said hospital and may stand to gain by it?

It is time that our citizens stopped allowing our city to be run by a few PTA members and just seven board members. It is time that we, as concerned citizens, found out from where the big push on filth is originating.

Why is it that four of the board members have made that statements after the meetings that they do not like the book and do not think it should be given to 9th graders, but why don't they have the grit to stand up and be counted on the side of decency—in public?

One of the board members even told some of the parents after the last meeting, that he "will not be pressured." He made the statement that, if he had decided to ban the book, he would have changed his mind because the tactics used in requesting the book be banned.

What were the tactics? First the board was asked at a public meeting to ban the book. They did not. Then we approached the ministers. The board did not pay any heed to their pleas. Instead, they put us off again. So now, we are circulating petitions.

What other course is there to follow? Who are the radicals, those who push the filth? Or those who attempt to stop it?

Don't Cheat Children This School Year

To the Editor:

We sharpen our awareness and powers of analysis by learning to make distinctions, by perceiving how things are alike and how they are different. We do this best when we see what something is and contrast it with what it is not.

One never quite appreciates what the world looks like right side up until he looks at it upside down, or through a microscope, or through the kaleidoscopic medium of metaphor.

Facts! Facts! Facts! Our heads swim with facts. There are shelves in every library in the world containing thousands of facts for living full lives and caring for our bodies from conception to death.

Some persons have even referred to the human body as a machine. Machines are made by human bodies. Man has yet to build a machine as wonderful, as complicated and as mysterious as the human body.

God created man in his own image. He gave us life the instant we were conceived. It is a shame man has to try to use his feeble mind and make this wonderful, undecipherable miracle of life garbled with facts and labels.

Yes, the children we teach are all mysterious creations of

Manager Appointment Raises Some Questions

To the editor:

This letter is in response to Mr. Rollins' letter concerning the appointment of Pat Cullen to Asst. City Manager. I could not agree more with statement No. 3. I as a citizen of this city do not like the back door policies of this manager-run community. Wayne will never have what it's sister suburbs have as long as it's present form of government continues to operate.

I wonder, aren't the taxpayers concerned that they have no voice in these appointed positions? We people have been given a wonderful tool to work with, "the right to vote." Why not use it constructively?

Yes, before you know it, I think we will have a new city manager and most people won't even know how it all came about and the city of Wayne will remain the same, "stagnant." Mrs. E. A. Malmquist

God. Unfortunately some of us don't come to realize this until we ourselves become parents.

We as teachers and parents have the responsibility of caring for God's creations. This isn't an easy job. We not only fill small minds with man's facts, but we teach moral values, the importance of family unity, love of God and country, and establish self-worth for each child we come in contact with.

Children are the most precious gifts we can receive. Is it not only right that we nurture these gifts with all of the know-how we have acquired from generations back? We teach as well as educate our children. They have much to learn during their maturation.

Man is fortunate in this respect, for he can relate experiences to others and help them to grow positively as well as make life safe through warnings of danger. This is a dividing line between man and the animals.

Sometimes I wonder if we really listen and pay attention to warning signs. Our bodies do. Do our minds? When we are ill our bodies react instinctively. A few warning signals are fever, pain, or other un-natural or uncomfortable conditions that quickly come to the forefront.

A mother knows if an infant is ill. The infant can't talk, but a fever indicates trouble. For some of us, we then realize how wonderful it is to have a well child. After experiencing a healthy child suddenly hit by a crippling disease, or deadly disease, good health is a very sweet treasure indeed.

God has told man to take care of his body and has given man the knowledge needed for this task. He has given us the earth but what have we done with it? Can we vision the beauty of our earth when it was created and then look at New York City and hear God say, "Well done?"

Can we vision God's children at birth and look at our ghettos and hear God say, "Well done?" Can we take the minds of our children and not fill them with knowledge, a spirit of understanding and love for fellow man and hear God say, "Well done?"

What do you think God does say when he looks at our earth and our children?

Be sure we don't cheat our children this school year. Let's nurture little minds with knowledge.

District Judge Praises GC Baseball Program

To the Editor:

Having observed the splendid and massive program of summer baseball in Garden City, each citizen of our city should be proud and grateful.

Proud because 1600 young men in the program have been certainly improved physically and morally, and grateful to those 350 fathers who have devoted many hours of their time without compensation to coaching and managing and administration.

A girl's program having been commenced this year likewise fulfills a need.

In our age of the many subversive and sinister influences from the outside it is delightful to know that these parents have encouraged youth to be eager for something good and honorable.

Democrats Take Electoral Show

that Morris had been identified with Sen. Faust and Mahalak with Rep. Pettipren did not appear to greatly affect the voters.

In the 24th County Commission race, the Democratic nomination was won by John Sabo, a Taylor barber, by a handful of votes over incumbent Edmund Bizek. Sabo's stunning victory in Taylor, where he led the nearest contender by 900 votes, apparently clinched his nomination.

All candidates, including Belleville Mayor Royce Smith and Mrs. Mary Washburn of Taylor made strong showings, but the vote was split along too many lines for any to overcome Sabo's Taylor showing.

Bizek had been identified with the Zak supporters on the Board of Commissioners and with the move for higher salaries for the County Board. While this may have been a factor in his defeat, Bizek did not appear to have suffered too great a loss of support because of it.

More likely to have been eliminated because of the pay issue was Ralph P. Turco, the incumbent Commissioner in the 25th District, who lost to James McCartney of Westland.

Turco ran third in a crowded field, among five candidates who garnered a relatively even number of votes. McCartney's total reached the 2500 mark, with the rest gathered in the 1600 to 1200-vote range. A decisive margin was won by McCartney in Garden City, where he won more than 1000 votes.

Turco had been identified with the Zak forces on the County Board.

In the race for Commissioner in the 20th District, Roy Lancaster lost a bid to unseat incumbent appointee John Lesinski, in a contest which saw Lancaster win the backing of most of the party and union organizations.

Lancaster won Inkster precincts in the district by about 150 votes, but Lesinski did better in Dearborn and Dearborn Heights areas of the district. In an odd sidelight, Lancaster received a write-in vote in Inkster, even though he was on the ballot.

Incumbent Township officials in Sumpter, Van Buren and Huron lost their bids for re-election in many cases. A homeowners slate headed by Elmer Parraghi carried Sumpter's Democratic primary, while a republican slate headed by Douglas Rhoads won in Huron.

Rodney Bly upset incumbent Supervisor Edward Stoelton in Van Buren.

In Canton Township, incumbent treasurer Forrest Truesdell was beaten by George Campbell, the challenger, in the Democratic primary.

In some unusual results across western Wayne County:

A person named 'Lobsinger' won one write-in vote for Sheriff in Westland. Lobsinger would most likely refer to Donald Lobsinger, militant head of the reactionary group Breakthrough.

Rank and file Republicans in Westland and Garden City rejected Mrs. Lenore Romney, and gave majorities to challenger State Sen. Robert Huber by small margins in the Republican U.S. Senate primary. In Wayne and Inkster, Mrs. Romney held an edge.

In Inkster, four votes for Republican precinct delegate on a write-in ballot apparently were mixed up, and the candidate was named instead as a precinct delegate for the American Independent Party.

The error might have been on the part of the voters or could have been a mistaken finding by the poll workers who recorded vote.

American Independent Party candidate Peter Bill, seeking the nomination for State Senator in the 12th District, did not receive a single vote in Inkster.

A candidate named James L. McCormick picked up three write-in votes in Westland and two write-in votes in Inkster for the Republican nomination for Governor.

Republican gubernatorial candidate James Turner almost won one precinct in Garden City over incumbent Governor William Milliken in the Republican primary.
